Distance Learners - Math Books

If your student is a GHDL student, please stop by the office any day between 9 am and 1pm to pick up his math books. If you have any questions, please call the school office at 623.866.4710.

Spirit Day - 2/5

Please see the information sent out in the PSO Blast this week about Spirit Day on 2/5:

February 5th will be a SPIRIT DAY for Archway Glendale students. Students will be allowed to wear spirit shirts, spirit hoodies, jeans, and tennis shoes (as long as they are free of pop culture/offensive images) on the 5th.

Increasing Illness - When to Keep a Student Home

As illness begins to increase due to weather changes, battling COVID becomes even more challenging.

Archway Glendale families continue to be the first line of defense in screening their children for illnesses before sending them to school or to events that involve the school community. Please view the Health Policy to inform your decision on when to keep students home.

If anyone in your household has been tested for COVID, please keep all family members home until the results come in.

As always, continue to reach out to the COVID Response Coordinator, Mrs. Swinford, or the nurses, Mrs. Dela Cruz and Mrs. Madeya, with test results, questions regarding illness, or any

Headmaster Corner

This school year I have been writing to our families about the foundational strength of the virtue of trust within our school, our families, and the human institutions to which we belong. I am encouraging all of us to commit ourselves to practicing the 13 high-trust behaviors.

Talk straight, demonstrate respect, create transparency, right wrongs, show loyalty, and deliver results are the first six high-trust behaviors. Get better is #7.

The virtue of humility acknowledges that I am not yet all I have been called to be. I must continue to cooperate with grace and my colleagues to improve every day. We are all on the way. We have not yet arrived. A trustworthy person strives to improve continuously. Good is not good enough. We must get better.

Great persons, great teachers develop feedback systems, formal and informal. They are grateful for feedback no matter how much it hurts sometimes to receive it, and they act on it in a timely manner. All of us must assume that today's knowledge and skills will not be sufficient for tomorrow's ever-changing challenges.

If you commit to getting better, those with whom you live and work will know you can be trusted. They know you will acknowledge past mistakes and failures and will strive to get better and will know that you can be trusted to help them get better as well.

Good is good, but it is seldom good enough because we can always (and should always strive to) get better!
