Online Re-Enrollment Starts Next Week!

All current Archway Glendale kindergarten through 4th-grade families will receive an email on Monday, March 1st, to begin the process of re-enrollment for the 21/22 school year. To help make the process smooth and quick, please be ready to follow these steps:

1. Log in to the Enrollment Parent Portal. Using a computer and Google Chrome is recommended.
2. Click on the Re-Enroll Now button, select a student, click on the Show Applications button, then the Start Re-Enrollment button; fill out the re-enrollment packet. Please be sure all of the information is correct (addresses, phone numbers, etc.). If you need to update any information, please select the option to indicate you made changes that way the school can easily identify whose information needs to be changed.
3. Please e-sign the re-enrollment packet and submit before Thursday, March 11th.
4. Scan and email your AZ Residency document to Mrs. Fleming by Thursday, March 11th. A driver's license, electric or water bill work best. The document you provide must list the physical address where the student resides and should match the address in the re-enrollment packet.
5. Once all of the re-enrollment materials have been submitted, you will receive a confirmation email securing your student's seat for the 21/22 school year.

SARRC

This year, Archway Glendale will be working with the Southwest Autism Research & Resource Center (SARRC) on a project regarding a universal screening for social challenges in public schools. The idea is that screening children for social challenges early and identifying and addressing those challenges will have a significant positive effect on their school experience. All students in 2nd and 4th grade will be screened by their teachers in two weeks unless their parent or guardian chooses to opt-out of the screening. Please read this letter from Christopher Smith, Vice President and Director of Research at SARRC, for more information about the screening, and read the answers to frequently asked questions which are available here. Please note that your child's identifying information will not be shared with SARRC. If additional evaluations are suggested after the screening, Archway Glendale will contact you for permission to share your contact information. If you wish to opt-out of the screening, please click here to complete the form. If you have any other questions about this project, please reach out to our Dean of Students, Sara Swinford.

Headmaster Corner

Trust is one of the most valuable virtues any person can possess and practice. Reasonable trust speeds up all our interactions and positive results. We get more good accomplished in a much shorter time. Our family, our workplace, any team of which we are a member becomes healthier, happier, and more successful when there is an environment of high trust.

Talk straight, demonstrate respect, create transparency, right wrongs, show loyalty, deliver results, get better, confront reality, clarify expectations, and practice accountability are the first ten high trust behaviors. The 11th is something we probably know we ought to do, but do not fully commit to doing well, that is, listen first.

Nearly always, we must listen before we speak. We need to ask questions and carefully and compassionately listen to the response with our ears, eyes, and heart. We must let the person know by our attitude, our posture, our non-verbal responses, and occasionally a brief verbal assent that we really hear what the person is saying. We must seek to understand and diagnose the situation and how the person is affected by it.

By listening we can learn what are the most important behaviors to the people with whom we live and work. Listening helps us to avoid assuming or presuming we know. Often, we do not know until we listen fully and well. Every person with whom we live and work is worth hearing and has something to contribute to the good of all.

So, if we want to be high-trust individuals, we need to make it a habit to listen first.
