Academy Giving

Archway Glendale only needs 17 TAX CREDITS to reach the goal they set!

Please continue to ask family and friends to take advantage of the Arizona Public School Tax Credit program. A student's character is formed not only through the academic journey in the classroom, but also when students participate in athletics, after-school clubs, field trips, on-site performances, and character-building programs. All of these activities are supported through the Arizona State Tax Credit campaign, and because this campaign directly impacts students, all Archway Glendale families are asked to participate. If you have yet to take advantage of the Arizona Tax Credit program, please click here to give today. Remember, you will receive a dollar-for-dollar credit on your 2021 Arizona State tax bill. Simply include your tax receipt and subtract up to $400 when you file your Arizona taxes before April 15, 2022.

Headmaster Corner

Dear Archway Glendale Families,

During our year long study of strengthening our roots and as Fourth Quarter Spring Fever starts to arise, let us dive into our Archway Glendale discipline philosophy. The overarching goal of discipline is to help students learn and grow from mistakes. It is natural and normal for children to make many mistakes, and these mistakes provide wonderful learning opportunities.

Our teachers have had extensive training in Love and Logic to help actualize the goal of learning from poor choices. Love and Logic is based on a few key principles: 1) The adult sets clear and firm limits that are enforceable, 2) The adult always delivers coaching in a caring way without anger lecture, repeated warnings, or nagging, and 3) The adult allows natural consequences to occur.

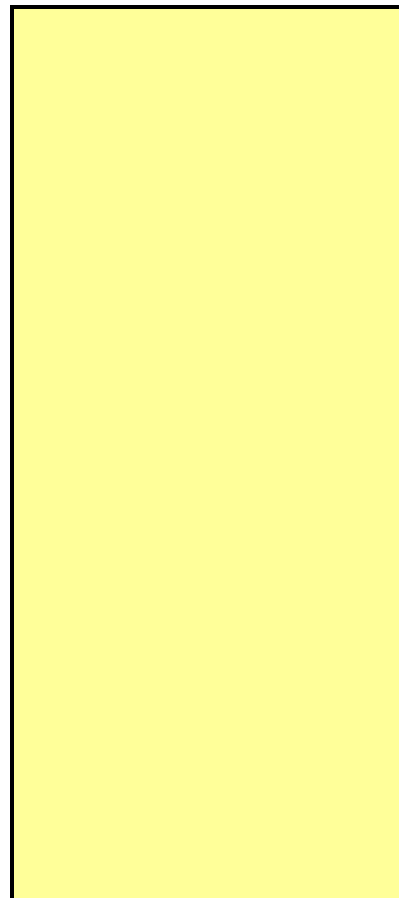

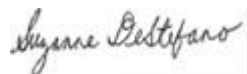

We also use a system of discipline codes in the daily agendas to communicate with parents when a student has had behavioral challenges at school. Detentions can also be an effective discipline method where students remain after school to meet with our Dean of Students, Ms. Hanks. Detention usually consists of a conversation to ensure that the student understands what they did wrong and what they would do differently next time. Detentions often contain natural consequences, i.e. apologizing to someone that had been wronged, cleaning something that had been damaged, or doing service for the school. Students that accumulate tardies are required to attend 7 am detention where they discuss what steps they took to get to school so early.

A good school discipline program requires excellent home-school communication so that both parties can be on the same page, delivering a consistent message to students. If you ever have concerns about your child's behavior at school or how a discipline matter was managed at school, I encourage you to please contact your child's teacher; our Dean of Students, Ms. Hanks; or me.

I am always so thankful for the trust families place in us as we discipline their children, and the spirit of partnership families bring as we work together towards the mutual goal of forming hearts and minds in truth and virtue.

With gratitude,
