Headmaster Corner

Dear Archway Glendale Families,

Much of Strengthening our Roots this school year has involved reacclimating to events, traditions, and high expectations. Each tradition that returns “to normal” has pushed us to not take for granted that which we may have taken for granted in the past—Field Days, Fun Runs, Daddy-Daughter Dances, Mother-Son Nerf Events, Spring Festivals, Field Trips, etc. These special events are not only fun, but they build and strengthen our community. This evening is the return of another special event, our Spring Concert. Our students and music teachers have been working hard for months, and they are excited to perform for you!

Last week, we were able to host the return of our Volunteer Tea where we could thank and honor the dozens of volunteers that support our school. This week has been Teacher Appreciation Week where our PSO and families have spoiled us with decorations, food, games, and prizes. I am immensely grateful to be a part of a community that showers volunteers and teachers with gratitude. This respect trickles down to students which creates strong and healthy family-student-teacher relationships. A community built on mutual respect and appreciation is a healthy community indeed.

With gratitude,
